

Statistics relating to Parent Consultation RSE Policy

Anonymous parent comments in blue

Do you think the draft RSE policy will help to create a safe school community in which our pupils can grow, learn and develop positive, healthy behaviour for life?

Option	Percentage	Quantity
Please tick	6.1%	4
Yes	89.4%	59
No	4.5%	3
Total		66

I feel it's important to talk about relationships and sex in a healthy support and informed way.

Would you like support at home on how to speak to your child about relationship and sex issues?

Option	Percentage	Quantity
Please tick	7.6%	5
Yes	22.7%	15
No	69.7%	46
Total		66

I would like to be able to have discussions at home around the subject matter covered so that my son feels confident to communicate any questions he has with us.

Verbal request to CE from a parent that parents are informed when sex education is covered in class so that parents are aware and can be ready to respond to any further enquiries from their children.

Are there any changes or additions that you think should be made to the RSE Policy?

Option	Percentage	Quantity
Please tick	12.1%	8
Yes	3.0%	2
No	84.8%	56
Total		66

more on consent and the right to say simply because you don't want to. no is always a good enough reason on its own

Do you have any additional comments about the draft RSE Policy?

Option	Percentage	Quantity
Please tick	9.1%	6
Yes	6.1%	4
No	84.8%	56
Total		66

I hope that this goes well and that all children are given a chance to learn and discuss openly anything they are curious about.

Questions only requiring comments

Thinking about relationships and sex education, what areas do you think should be taught to different age groups/ key stages and why?

uks 2

all areas mentioned should be taught considering how the modern world is at the moment. I feel children need to be able to know the rights and wrongs, whats safe and what isn't. I hope by being taught this they will be able to, hopefully make wiser choices and stay safe. its important they are not taken advantage of. Mental health also is such a huge issue and individuals need to be able to talk about any issues or concerns and not feel ashamed. In the world today they should be able to talk about it and understand the importance.

I think anything should be taught to children. basing it on what they ask and what they want to know but based on age appropriate answers.

key stage one- appropriate and inappropriate touch and personal space and respect for each other.

key stage 2, more appropriate for year 5/6 reproduction and physical changes. all to be age appropriate according to children's understanding.

I think different types of relationships and sexualities should be normalised in an age appropriate manner. My son has gay family members and so the idea that not all families are 'mum and dad' is normalised for him and he is accepting, though some children may not have knowledge at all, and therefore be non-inclusive without malicious intent.

consent

puberty

menstrual cycle

hormonal/emotional changes

from ages 9 upwards

pregnancy

consent should be taught at all ages, starting with consent to be touched (hugs, friendly contact from relatives or friends etc) then progressing to sexual consent when older

All of the standard age appropriate information with the addition of diversity and awareness around Sexual preferences. Social media and alarming trends are a concern (such as TikTok fads) which can be very influential.

Thinking about relationships and sex education, is there an area you think should NOT be taught to different age groups/ key stages and why?

no i feel it's important to be able to talk about all aspects of both relationships and sex education. more importantly where children can get advice and further support from people they feel comfortable with.

as long as it is age appropriate then no, it should all be taught

Gentle, age appropriate conversations around diversity and normalising sexual preferences would perhaps be beneficial.

Actions:

- Following on from this consultation, Jerry Clay Academy will ensure that parents/carers are made aware before their child learns an aspect of Sex Education (Policy to be amended to reflect this – July 2021)